

CHURCHES TOGETHER IN HARDWICK and WEEDON

St. Mary's Parish Church
Weedon Methodist Chapel

December 2025

Parish Magazine and Village Newsletter

Dear Friends,

Once December comes it will be really hard to evade the litany of popular Christmas tunes that assault our ears in supermarkets, shops and shopping centres. There will be those that have a certain nostalgic charm alongside those that we have already heard on enough occasions during our lifetime. There is the danger sometimes at church services over the Christmas period that carols take centre stage, because they are perceived to be the most popular. Other hymns will struggle, often because they are new, to gain a hearing. For those who are responsible for creating carol services, it is a perpetual challenge to strike the right balance, especially as carols will also be sung at a variety of other Christmas services.

So, what makes a good Christmas carol? This feels like a question that could create a contentious debate, as people advocate for their particular favourite, but it will allow us to consider something of what the authors of carols strive to encapsulate. Some are very much focused on telling the story, in their own way recounting something of the biblical narrative. This can be focused specifically on the events in the stable, such as Once in Royal David's City, while others will offer a broader sweep of the narrative, like O Come all ye Faithful. By way of difference, some carols focus on the essential theological truth of which nativity speaks, the most obvious example is Hark the Herald Angels Sing where Charles Wesley, the author, offers an insight into the lasting legacy of the child born in the stable come to offer humanity the good news. A picture of incarnation is offered as we are invited to mull the significance of the child born being the Son of God. There is no answer to which is the better option, ideally, I suppose, we would have something of a varied diet to enhance our Christmas experience.

To my mind one of the most effective carols is one that with a simplicity of structure and words invites us to delve into the mystery of Bethlehem's birth. It was written by Christina Georgina Rossetti in the 19th century and its three short verses pack in a tremendous amount that, if we take the words seriously, invite us to marvel at the news of the Christmas season. Can I encourage you to take a few moments to ponder these words:

Love came down at Christmas
Love all lovely, love divine;
Love was born at Christmas
Star and angels gave the sign.

Worship we the Godhead,
Love Incarnate, Love divine;
Worship we our Jesus:
But wherewith for sacred sign?

Love shall be our token
Love be yours and love be mine
Love to God and all the world
Love for plea and gift and sign.

The thing I like about this carol is that the word love is central and we are reminded that love is a powerful commodity; it is something that if we truly embrace it, would allow for a very different world. Love has the potential to promote peace and tolerance, encourage reconciliation and invite us all to look to the story of Jesus and how he shows what love can truly achieve.

Let us hope and pray that this Christmas is a time when love will take centre stage, and with its positive influence enable us all to sample something of its refreshing touch so that we might all continue the work of transformation.

Blessings

Richard

Monetary donations towards the Christmas flowers at St Mary's will be gratefully received. Cash or cheques (made out to the PCC of Hardwick) to Sarah Gibbs please.

WEEDON CHAPEL

Wild Weedon

The Weedon Wildlife Group aims to protect and promote wildlife in and around Weedon and Hardwick

After such a mild start to November it seems that Winter has finally arrived!

As the solstice approaches, much of our native wildlife is keeping its head down. Hedgehogs, bats and badgers should be sleeping by now, and squirrels will only come out if there is a warm(ish), sunny day. Butterfly activity has slowed down too but you may still spot some Red Admirals or Commas stocking up on fallen fruit or Ivy nectar. Peacock butterflies over-winter as adults, so they can often be found in sheds and garages or in that pile of twigs and other debris you deliberately left in a corner of the garden! Birds are always active and looking for food and we can help with some bird feeders in the garden. Further afield, the hedgerows will be full of winter visitors from Europe such as Fieldfares and Redwings and in the woods Tawny Owls will be getting amorous. They announce their courtship with the famous twit-twoo sound which is actually a duet. It is started by the female with a sharp 'twit' which in effect says 'I'm here is there anyone about'. The male then replies with a deeper 'twoo' that is a territorial call.

Have you got your Wild Weedon Wildlife Calendar yet (see separate advertisement in the magazine)? It is the must have item this Christmas.

As always, if you have any further ideas for activities you would like us to run or projects you would like us tackle please email: contact@wildweedon.org.uk or speak to any member of the committee.
